CHRISTOPHER A. TAGGI

CTaggi@asm-law.com

Christopher Taggi represents nationally-known home builders, general contractors, commercial owners and developers in all phases of their operations, from contract drafting, to risk management, to litigation and dispute resolution. Mr. Taggi has an extensive amount of first-chair litigation experience, having tried over one hundred cases in various state, federal, and administrative courts. Substantively, his practice areas include alternative dispute resolution, construction defects litigation, condominium law, contracts, liability avoidance, real estate disputes, personal injury, and insurance coverage; he also has significant past experience with state and federal workers' compensation law. He has lectured lawyers and construction industry professionals on mold litigation and strategies for minimizing and allocating risk in commercial and residential construction projects.

In 2014, Mr. Taggi was inducted as a Fellow in the Litigation Counsel of America, an invitation-only trial lawyer honorary society limited to only 3,500 fellows nationwide. The American Society of Legal Advocates has named him a "Top 100 Litigation Lawyer in the District of Columbia" for four consecutive years. Beginning in 2013, Super Lawyers has named him a Top Rated Construction Litigation Attorney in Washington D.C.

Mr. Taggi earned a Bachelor of Arts with Distinction in All Subjects from Cornell University in 1994. In 1997, he received his J.D. from the George Washington University Law School. He is admitted to practice in Virginia, Maryland, and the District of Columbia, as well as the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Virginia, the U.S. District Court for the District of Maryland, the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia and the U.S. Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals.
